FINDS 3 SLAIN IN FLAT SAYS BROKER 'MADE PRICES'

Brooklyn Tailor's Wife, Motherin-Law and Child Shot.

SLEEPING BABY IS SPARED

Woman's Brother, a Shoemaker, Arrested on the Charge of Homicide.

A triple murder, the youngest victim of which was a girl three years old, was revealed yesterday noon when Adolfo Lofaro, tailor, living at No. 739 Park avenue, Willfamsburg, arrived home and found his wife. her aged mother and his daughter, Rosina, lying dead in a bedroom, with bullet wounds in their heads. Lofaro had found home and had broken it open. The bodies, which were scarcely cold, vestigation the police said they believed the grandmother was killed first as she sat price to all the branches. working at a sewing machine near the kitchen window. Her married daughter the slayer shot the little girl.

The first intimation the Park avenue through the screams and cries of Lofaro. With a chisel, which he borrowed from the family on the floor below, he had broken the lock off the door leading into the kitchen and entered. Before him, in the midst of the disorder of overturned chairs, lay his ten-months-old baby girl, asleep in her cradle. Directly around to the right, her feet sticking out of the doorway of the dark bedroom, lay his aged mother-in-law. Further away in the shadows lay his wife. The body of Rolay across her grandmother's bre .st.

Lofaro's cries brought tenants of the house on the run, and the police at the Vernon avenue station were notified. Pa-trolman O'Reilly and Gilmartin were the first on the scene. By that time the cries of the husband and the news of the murder had attracted so large a crowd that a reserve force of twenty men were sent to hold the curious in check.

Lofaro was taken in hand by the police and closely questioned, along with Salvatore Delomo, brother of Lofaro's wife. Neither could throw much light on the murder. The only relative who could not he found was Matteo Delomo, a shoemaker who is also a brother of the dead woman Detectives who went to his shop, at No. 103 Humboldt street, found the place They then began a systematic search for him, covering every part of the Late last night he returned to his shop and was arrested on the charge of hominue station. He was questioned closely by the police, and they said they had obtained some damaging admissions from him.

John Delomo, father of Salvatore and Matteo, died last July. He left a house in Brooklyn valued at about $4,000 to his wife, this property comprising his entire estate. Salvatore told the police that Matter and others of the family were on bad terms, and it is a matter of record that on September 11 Matter was arrested and arraigned before Chief Magistrate Kempner, of Brooklyn, on a charge of assault preferred by Lofaro, but was discharged. This assault came about, according to Lofaro, as the result of an argument over the disposition of the family estate.

Mrs. Mary Jonosch, whose family occupy the flat under that of the Lofaro family, told the police that Matteo had been in the habit of coming to the house after this case, as I shall not move it any more." Mattee for the last time a week ago.

Mrs. Jonosch said she saw Mrs. Lofaro go downstairs to the mail box yesterday go back up to the flat. An hour later she BOY FORGER BEMOANS FATE was still. No one in the house heard a re-

J. J. Filerel, for nearly two years foreman for Schuchman in his repair shop, No. 122 East 41st street, and the principal witness for the prosecution, in his examination by James E. Smith, Assistant Digtrie Attorney, testified that his conscience troubled him so much because of what he knew about his employers' methods of charging for work done for James A. Hearn & Son that he resigned. Before he did so, however, he conveyed one of Schuchman's old account books to the complainants in order, as he said, to show them how they were being defrauded. Filerel also testified that entries of money paid out to Reinemann and Kelsey were made by Schuchman. These entries, he said, were made sometimes under the name of Frank." Schuchman, he said, always called Kelsey "Frank."

On request of counsel for the defence Justices Steinert, Moss and Zeller adjourned the case until November 22. Justices Moss presided.

Telegraph Operator Tells Meth ods of B. F. Scheftels & Co.

The manner in which George Graham Rice made the "market price" for the stocks in which B. F. Scheftels & Co. were directly interested was described yesterday by Walter S. Campbell, a telegraph operator formerly in the employ of the firm. Campbell was a witness at the trial MARRIAGE WAS ANNULLED of Rice and the other members of the Scheftels firm in the United States Circuit

Campbell said that whenever he received orders for stocks he entered them on a sheet, and if they were "house stocks," those which the firm was promoting, he would mark the order as filled by making a ring around it. The price at which a customer ordered these stocks could not be different from the market price, he said, because Rice made the market price.

"Rice called me up in the morning or left a memorandum for me the night before fixing the bid and asked price for the house stocks at the opening of the marhis front door locked when he arrived ket," Campbell said. "I would fill, buy or sell orders at those prices before the market opened. An order coming from had been dragged across the floor and branch office could not be at any other thrown inside the bedroom. After an in- price than the one made by Rice in the morning because I would telegraph the

Mr. Dorr, Assistant United States Attor ney, then asked Delaney whether Rice's attack on Senator Nixon and others made nim think that he and Rice would be convicted whether they were guilty or inno-

"No," said Delaney, "they had nothing to do with it. In view of the charges in the indictment I knew I would be convicted by my acts."

DUVEEN AGAIN DODGES CASE Henry A. Wise Announces He Will Not Move It Any More.

Benjamin J. Duveen, head of the New York branch of Duveen Brothers, art dealers, again failed to appear in court wher his case was called before Judge Martin, in the United States Circuit Court, yesterday. Duveen was indicted almost a year ago for defrauding the government of customs duties, and entered a plea of guilty last April, which he withdrew the same day by permission of Judge Martin, on the promise that he would renew it the next cide. He was locked up in the Vernon ave- day. This was the last seen of him in through the labyrinth of refuse-littered

Stanchfield, counsel for Duvcen, produced certificates from four English physicians advising that Duveen's mother was critically III in England, and that to place him on trial now would mean her death. "I have had a confidential investigation made into the illness of this defendant's mother," said Mr. Wise, "and I find that she is in no different condition now than she has been for more than a year." Judge Martin decided that the case go over until the first Monday in December, saying that he would advise Judge Holt, before whom it will come, that ball be delegate of the Ladles' Walst and Dress-

Suit Against Colonel Dye, of Old Guard, on Trial.

Wife Presses Action, Despite Decision That Husband Had No Right to Marry Her.

The suit of Mrs. Susan Elson Dye seventy-five years old, for divorce from Colonel Joseph Ernest Dye, of the Old Guard, which has been before the courts for some time, came up for trial yesterday before Justice Greenbaum, in the Supreme

Prior to her marriage to Colonel Dye, in 1867, Mrs. Dye was Mrs. William H. Dukehart. Her first husband divorced her in 1865, and she was forbidden to marry again. Despite the court decree, she said she was married to Colonel Dye, and they lived together until 1907. In 1910 the Appellate Division declared the marriage void on the ground that Colonel Dye had a wife living when he married Mrs. Dukehart. James W. Putnam, who keeps a board ing house on the upper West Side, testified that Colonel Dye and a woman whom he introduced as his wife lived with him for three years after 1907. She was not the plaintiff. In reply to a question, he said that Colonel Dye never spoke the name of his companion, always addressing her as

William A. Boyd, of counsel for Colone Dye, read a deposition made by Mrs. Eudora A. Ellis, of White Plains, in which sne said that in 1863 Colonel Dye, while on furlough from the war, married Mar tha Spencer. The deposition stated that Colonel Dye never returned to his wife after the war, and that she was killed in a railroad accident in 1883.

Mrs. Ella Briggs, a half-sister of Martha Spencer, testified that she remembered the marriage of her sister to the young soldier, although she was only five years old at the time. She said that her mother used to tell her that Colonel Dye ran away with Mrs. Dukehart, but she never heard that they were married. Colonel Dye appeared at the afternoon ession and testified to his marriage with Martha Spencer. The trial will be continued to-day.

ASCH FIRE DEMONSTRATION Paraders Ask Why Triangle Men Are Not Tried.

With flags flying and a band playing the funeral music of a piece called "The Kishineff Massacre," nearly a thousand men and women, all clothed in black and some wearing sackcloth, began their march streets of the lower East Side yesterday to emphasize their demand for a speedy tory last March 145 of their relatives per ished.

Banners describing their feelings were carried at the head of the paraders. Some of the legends read: "We Protest! Why are Harris and Blanck, Owners of the Tri angle Waist Company, Not Tried?" "We Mourn the Loss of Parents and Relatives-Triangle Victims." "White Cold Stones Are Left for Us from Our Dear Ones. Harris & Blanck Got Their $200,000 Insur "Union Shops: Open Doors." BOY BURGLARS SENTENCED Lads Who Robbed Policeman Sent to House of Refuge.

Two boys, each fourteen years old, were sentenced vesterday by Justice Russell in the Children's Court, to an indefinite term of not less than eighteen months in the House of Refuge. The specific charge against the lads, who are Eugene McAleer of No. 241 West 11th street, and Charle Rosher, of No. 49 Christopher street, wa that of having robbed the flat of Patrol man Edward Laukman, at No. 82 Janstreet, of jewelry and other valuable worth $200. It is asserted by the police nowever, that the boys confessed to the ooting of sixteen other flats.

When Laukman returned to his flat las Saturday evening he found his rooms had been ransacked. He reported his loss to the Charles street station, and Detective Boyle and Braumhop were put on the case.

They went to Laukman's place, and while still in his rooms heard the bell ring. Thinking it possible that the burglars had returned, the detectives hid in a closet. Soon two heads appeared at the window, the boys having climbed the fire escape. They crept in steafthily and began rummaging the various drawers and boxes. Finally they opened the closet door and the detectives pounced upon them.
